CESARIO ON TRIAL.

President Carnot's Assassin Befors the Assize Court.

NO REGRETS FOR HIS CRIME.

The Prisoner Refuses to Admit His Connection with Other Acarchists-The Audience Revolt at Bis Cold Blooded Attitude When Questioned.

Lyons, France, Aug. 3 -Santo Cesario, the auarchist who murdered President Carnot, was placed on trial in the assize court here. The prisoner was quietly removed to the court from his cell in the St, Paul prison at an early hour, and reached the court without any incident worth noting. The anarchists made no movement whatever, and recently they have even avoided all mention of Cesario's

An entire battalion of infantry is guarding the court house, the soldiers being deployed in pickets upon all approaches, while a double cordon of troops surrounds the building itself. In addition a company of infantry is posted in the entrance hall, and a platoon of cavalry surrounded the prison van as it was driven at a gallor from the prison of St. Paul to the court house. The same escort last evening took | two children. the prisoner back to my cell. The soldiers on duty are supplemented by every variety of police official, from the local gendarme to the shrewdest detective officer from the Paris prefecture.

Over a hundred specially selected newspaper men were squeezed into a space only large enough for about twenty persons and these, owing to the postponement of the trial made purposely by the government to permit of the enactment of the new anti-anarchist law, find themselves under strict control. For the first time in the experience of many of them their

"copy" will be edited by the judge.

M. Bremilac, president judge of the Lyons assize, who is trying the case, was no sooner sealed than he called on the crowd was distinctly disappointed at the mild appearance of the prisoner, but some people noted with pleasure and regret the curly dark chestnut hair, oval face and boy-like appearance of the blood stained anarchist.

After the reading of the indictment the names of thirty witnesses were read and answered to, and then Judge Breuillac began to question the accused. The prisoner declared that he was wholly res ponsible for his actions, and acknowledged that he had written to his mother saying he had killedithe president from anarchistic motives.

In reply to the judge's questions in regard to his childhood and his taking part in religious processions. Cesario answered mockingly, "Children do not know what they are doing.' Judge Breudlac then examined Cesaric at length as to his connection with anarchy. During this examination the preident said: "Your family tried to wear you from these horrible doctrines?" To this the prisoner replied: "I love my mother, but I cannot submit to her prejudice or to my family's prejudices. There is the larger family of humanity.'

In spite of the repeated efforts of the judge to draw from the prisoner some statement in regard to his connection with other anarchists Cesario absolutely refused to answer any questions on this In answer to further questions the pris oner told of his journey from Cette to Lyons, saying: "I came straight here to execute my mission. He then proceeded to tell the story of the tragedy in a careless tone, which contrasted deeply painfully with the deep emotion exhibited by the audience. His only regret seemed to be that he had not struck the heart of the president. "What right had you to kil! President Carnot? 'asked the presiding judge, solemply. "Leaving aside human laws, there is the natural law which forbids murder. You acted as accuser, judge and executioner."

To this Cesario coolly remarked, stroking his slight mustache. "If it is true that killing is forbidden why do the heads of states kill millions of men?"

"You are young to judge, and especially to kill," replied Judga Breuillac. Thon Cesario continued, warming up to his subject, and compared himself to .

soldier, "ready to do anything." "But," said the president judge, "soldiers do not commit murder in order to defend their country. You not only killed the chief of the state, you als killed the father of a tankay, a model has band. You are quity of a real, commo law crime." "Yes," said Cesario, thoughtfully. though with the susperion of a smile on his face. The was the tather of a family, but he caused the father of a family to be killed when he refused to pardon Vail--lant-11-The court then adjourned for luncheon, after which the formal evidence was taken. Nothing could exceed the bard, bition of cold bloodedness and utter lack VICTORY FOR CHINESE SOLDIERS of appreciation of the terrible nature of the deed committed.

At the afternoon session Generals Voizen and Borius, Captain Hottinger, Lieutenant Delpeche, M. Rivaud, prefect of the department of the Rhone, and several others testified. It became evident during the course of the trial that the public prosecutor wishes to emphasize the fact that the prisoner was concerned in a plot to assassinate President Carnot.

A force of police and detectives last night guarded the residences of the magistrates, jurymen and others connected with the trial.

The Rebellion in Samoa.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3 .- Advices from Apia, Samoa, to July 18 say. There have been two skirmishes between small bands of the contending forces, and several Samoans have been killed and wounded. There has, however, been no really serious outbreak, and the protracted struggle does not appear to be near a termination. The rebel bands maintain their ground in Atua, and are well supplied with arms and ammunition. No determined attempts have been made to dislodge them, and the only fighting has been desultory skirmishing in the bush between the rebels and bands of the king's warriors. Both rebel and government warriors continue their Larbarous practice of beheading those of the enemy who fall into their hands.

Acting Secretary McAdoo, in his endorsement, called attention to this paradoxical finding, but confirmed the sentence of dismissal

STILL NO AGREEMENT.

The Tariff Conferrees Making Haste Very Slowly.

SUGAR THE BONE OF CONTENTION.

It is Still Believed, However, That They Will be Ready to Report an Agreement Next Week-Chairman Wilson Satisfied with the Progress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 -The Democratic tariff conferrees did not make as marked progress yesterday as they had hoped when they went into session. When they adjourned on Wednesday the situation was so much better than it had been on previous days that some of the members thought an understanding might be reached before adjournment yesterday. Members of the conference say, however that the same good feeling still exists, and that there is the -ame belief of an ultimate amicable -ettlement, and that today or temorrow may see the end of their deliberations They admit, though that it is impossi ble to fix the day, for the reason that a few minutes often serves to undo the accompli-hments of an entire day. The senate generally understands this to be the situation, and the prevailing opinion on the floor is that the report will not be made this week. When asked today if it was true, as has been generally under stood that there had been an agreement on all the schedules except sugar, a member of the committee said that such was not the fact, but he admitted that he thought with sugar out of the way the other differences might be harmonized. "Yet," he said, "there are some very knotty questions to deal with outside of the sugar schedule."

One of the difficulties the house conferrees have found in accepting the senate sugar schedule is the fact, as they claim, that the refiners would not only receive the advantage of the protection given them in the one-eighth of a cent differential, but that they would also receive certain additional protection because of the difference in the price of raw and refined sugar, and they have intimated that they would be inclined to grant the one-eighth of a cent if the duty on the refined article could be confined to that figure. The conferrees admit the justice of this representation, and, it is understood, have indicated a willingness to adjust the schedule so as to remove this objection if a way could be found to definitely fix the rate.

One of the many stories current during the day was that the senate conferrees had proposed to the house managers the alternative of accepting either the senate or house bill without amendment, and that it had been declined, but the truth of the story is denied, and no foundation could be found for it except in a conversation between Senator Jones and a mem per of the house, not in the conference, in which Mr Jones had told the house member that he would be willing to come to an agreement, if it could be done, that would permit each house to vote on the bill of the other The house conferrees went to Speaker Crisp's private office at the close of the meeting and discussed the situation. Chairman Wilson and his associates expressed satisfaction with the progress be ing made Mr Wilson said, however, that even if an agreement were reached i could not be prepared in time to report this week.

BRAVE FIRE FIGHTERS KILLED. Fell with a Floor While at Work in the Burning Building.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.-Two firemer were killed and five injured in a fire yes terday which almost destroyed the milbuilding at Randolph and Jefferson streets. The loss will aggregate $35,000, fully insured. The building is 200 feet long, and four stories in height, and sitnated in the heart of the mill district. It is owned by David Cochran, who occupied the third and fourth floors for spinning cotton yarns. Part of the second floor was used by McCloskey & O'Hara as a carpet cleaning establishment, and the remainder of the structure was vacant. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark struck by a nail in a picking machine on the second floor. The flames spread among the inflammable contents of the mill, and were subdued only after the entire southern portion of the structure had been gutted. None of the ad joining property was seriously damaged After the fire was quenched severa firemen entered the third floor and turned their hoses on a large quantity of cottor that was stored there Suddenly, without the slightest warning, the floor gave way with a crash, precipitating the men to the first floor, where they were buried among the debris. Two of them were taken out dying, having been smothered by the bales of cotton. The dead are: George Geisler, of Engine No. 21; George Dickel of Truck C. They died on their way to the bospital. The five other firemen sus tained less serious injuries.

The Ragnvald Jarl Broken to Pieces by the Ice.

THE EXPLORER'S PARTY SAFE.

Mr. Wellman, Having Established a Depot at Walden Island, Proceeds Northeastward on Sledges-The Members of the Party in Good Health and Spirits,

TROMSOE, Norway, Aug. 3.-News of the Wellman Arctic expedition has been received. It was brought by the whaler Malagen, Captain Pedersen, which arrived at Tromsoe yesterday, with news despatched from the expedition, and also from Captain Bottolfsen and three sailors of the steamer Ragnvald Jarl, which carried the Wellman party to the Arctic, but which has lince been wrecked. Captain Bottolfsen furnishes the following narrative of the experiences of the degs. below zero. The members of the party were in good health when they left the ship. They intended to run over the same route by which they advanced, reaching porthern Spitzbergen on Sept. 13 and the headquarters at Dane's Island on Oct. 1.

After several battles with young and winter ice the Ragnvald Jarl arrived, on May 12, at Table Island, one of the Seven islands group. The ice, bowever, compelled a return to Walden Island, where Mr. Wellman left the ship, on May 24, with thirteen men, forty dogs and 110 days provisions. The party having established a depot, they proceeded eastward on sledges a distance of sixty miles, thence northeast, hoping to reach the land that is believed to exist in that direction. Up to the day of the departure of the sledge party the expedition had had good weather, the worst being only 20

On May 28, after Wellman and his companions left, the Ragavald Jarl was broken up by the ice and totally lost. The crew had time to transfer the greater portion of their provisions, scientific instruments, dogs and aluminum boats to the ice before the boat was destroyed A message was at once sent to Mr. Wellman, informing him of the catastrophe, and it reached him at Marten's Island. Mr. Wellman, Charles C. Dodge and two others then returned to Walden Island, With material taken from the wreck of the ship they built a good house to accommodate the crew, and as a precaution in case the expedition were compelled to winter at Walden. Wellman left again to join the sledge party on May 31. He writes on the same date: "I have decided to proceed as previously planned, except that I intend to return to Walden Island not later than Sept. 1-and to be at Dane's Island by Sept. 15."

The latest news received from Wellman was dated June 17, when Mr. Winship, a member of the party, with one man, left the expedition at a spot six miles east of Cape Plate, where the explorers had met with impassable ice and were waiting for open water. All were well and in good three of the crew of the Hagnvald Jarl started on a journey southward in aluminum hoats, seeking sealers. They met the Malagen, and Captain Pedersen consented to carry them to Tromsoe. Hera Captain Bottolisen chartered a new vessel and will return as soon as possible to Dane's Island In the meantime the Welland party had gone north over the ice. Captain Pedersen expects that Wellman will reach Gillei Island. Hyerdahl, a Ski runner and sportsman from the University of Christiania, and a member of the Wellman party, has been sent to Dane's Island to join Professor Career of Clifton R. Breckinridge, Our New Representative at St. Petersburg.

Clifton R. Breckinridge of Arkansas, vho succeeds Andrew D. White as United States minister to Russia, recently sought renomination to congress, but was defeated at the primaries by his constituents, who were not in accord with his antisilver views. Inasmuch as support of Mr. Cleveland's policy cost him his seat, the president rewarded him by sending him to Russia. Mr. Breckinridge is a son of John C. Breckinridge, vice president under Buchanan, and was born at Lexington, Ky., 47 years ago. When the war began, he was only 15 years of age, but he entered the Confederate service when the struggle was half over and served the remainder of the time as private soldier and midshipman.

After the war he attended Washington college, Virginia, and removed to Arkansas in 1870 to engage in cotton planting. He followed this occupation and then entered public life as congressman at large from Arkansas in the Forty-eighth congress. He was re-elected to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth congresses and entered the Fifty-first congress, but, owing to the sensational Clayton-Breckinridge confest, was unseated. His constituents at once re-elected him to fill his unexpired term and later sent him to the resent congress. During his 10 years of service at Washington he has been a member of many important committees and is at present on the ways and means committee. He has been Mr. Wilson's right hand man in the framing and management of the

WOMEN AND CHILDREN WHALERS. How Six of Them Are Braving the Dangers of the Frozen North.

About this time the white polar bears and the seals and walruses of the great frozen north are being surprised by the strains of a grand piano, the words of "Daisy Bell" and the laughing voices of not only men, but women and children as well. The explanation of this apparent anomaly is the fact that several women and children accompany the fleet of the Pacific Steam Whaling company in its long cruise near Point Barrow this year, and that a piano, dancing and other means of amusement are now being utilized to while away the time while waiting for the cry of "There she blows!"

The voyages of the fleet last from two to three years, and on the present trip several of the captains were so anxious to have their families accompany them that they gladly paid $1,000 each for the privilege. The veteran among the women is Mrs. Green, wife of Captain Green of the Alexander. She has seen a great deal of whales and whaling and knows more about the great leviathans of the deep than the average woman does about fancy work. On the Jesse H. Freeman are Mrs. Sophia Porter and her little daughter, Dorothy. Mrs. Sherman light and life of the Thrasher's crew. The winter quarters of the party are situated on land a short distance from the frozen in steamers, and there the 500 members of the fleet will play billiards and pool, charades, private theatricals, whist and progressive eachre, and enjoy music and dancing. The ladies will also hold teas and crochet enough fancy Work to stock a bazaar.

Captain Porter's little girl is a tiny maid of 4 summers, who is wearing one of the smallest sealskin sacks ever made, and who will never forget the wonders of the arctics, so deeply will they be impressed upon her baby mind. Master Bert Weeks will study the whale, and the seal, and the walrus in their native haunts and will see strange lands, strange animals and fish and strange people that few little boys have ever before had the opportunity of studying as he will study them. The fleet is coaled and provisioned for three years, and that time will probably pass before the whalers, laden with rich stores of bone and oil, return to civilization again.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still. I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the subject of the veer. I want the boy to take a breader view than I did to be the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what I do not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much valuc, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess,

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained the contraction of the were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy ank secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end-and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book-I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man-I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume. ume of 253 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

SUGAR INVESTIGATION REPORT. Evidence Does Not Support the Published Statement of Edwards.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 .- Senator Gray chairman of the sugar investigating committee, presented the report of the committee to the senate and asked that the committee be discharged. The main report is signed by all the senators of the committee, but Senators Lodge and Davis present a supplemental report, and Senator Allen also presents his own views or some features of the case. Senator Carlists is exonerated, and the parts of the article reflecting on him are declared to be without foundation. The conduct of Mr. Edwards, says the report, in publish ing specific charges against public mer without his personal knowledge calls for serious reprobation of the senate.

The committee also says: "There has been no testimony presented before your committee and your committee has been unable to discover any tending to show that the sugar schedule was made up a: It then stood in the proposed amendment to the tariff bill, in consideration of large or any sums of money paid for campaign purposes of the Democratic party. No witness has testified before your committee that such was the fact, and all the Democratic senators of the finance committee and all the senators whose names have been mentioned in the public press as especially interested in protecting the augar refining industries, or in whose states refineries existed, have under oath denied that such was the truth."

Philadelphia Iron Workers Reorganizing PITTSBURG, Aug. 3.-The Amalgamated Association of Tin, Iron and Steel Workers is striving carnestly to receive recognition in the east. President Garland has returned from Philadelphia after organizing the workers in two tin plate mills there. He declined to say what mills are operated by the men he organized, but said the union movement had reached Philadelphia again. This is very important news to Pittsburg manufacturers, as it presages a radical change in wages. The chief dissension over the scale for iron workers, so far as the Pittsburg manufacturers are concerned, was the low rate paid in the east for all manner of iron manufactured.

Coben states that he threw a lighted match on the ground, and the explosion immediately followed. The police believe, however, that Cohen had the cartridge in his possession and intended to explode it.

The Discovery of a Process of Artificial Digestion.

WHAT THE WRITER SAW.

Prominent People Express Themselves Freely Concerning It and Just What They Say is Made Public.

It is not often that science makes a discovery that demands epecial investigations on the part of newspapers. Once in a while it does, however, such as occurred in New York recent-

It has been stated positively that a process has been found whereby food, mixed with fruit acids, becomes digested before it has even entered the mouth. Certainly if this were true it would mark an era in the history of civilization, and the writer was delegated to thoroughly investigate and report upon the same.

The first call was made at the office of the company which is now manufacturing the food in question, and I was permitted to inspect the process of manufacture. I found it exceedingly elaborate and scientific, and after inspecting it thoroughly I was shown the way in which it accually worked.

A piece of fresh meat was placed in an open dish and some of the predigested food mixed with it. Almost immediately there was a change in the color of the meat, next its fibers seemed to separate, and soon it became a liquid mass, the same as it does in the human stomach after being eaten. The effect, the change, the entire process was most wonderful and speedy.

"This, as you see, is a demonstration of what can be done," said the manager, "but we prefer that you ascertain just what this food accomplishes with the people who use it. Here is a list of names, and you are at liberty to see them and ascertain just what their opinions may

Armed with this list the writer began a tour of investigation, with the following results:

Sergeant Elias B. Dunn, Chief of the Weather Bureau, was found in his office, looking exceedingly well. In response to my inquiry he said: "I have used the pre-digested food, Paskola, myself and in my family, and I must say that I have found it just what is claimed for it. In fact. I have been chanting the praises of it very steadily ever since I first began to use it. Why shouldn't I? It has built me up and made me a new man. You see how fresh and rosy I am, and I intend to keep so."

Colonel John R. Fellows, the eloquent District Attorney of New York, in response to my question said: "If I am called upon to deliver an address or make a speech on which much depends, I first look out for my stomach. When that is healthy my brain is clear, my thoughts are logical, and it is a comparatively easy matter to clothe hem in proper language. am not feeling well I take Paskola, the pre-digested food, which sets the atomach right, clears the cobwebs from the brain and sets the machinery of thought and eloquence in motion There is nothing like Paskola for such a purpose, and I believe it load of carmeal and nearly $15,000 worth; has won more cases before a jury than you would imagine."

Both Messrs. Howe and Hummel, the well known lawyers, fully confirmed what I had already heard. Mr. Howe said:

"Look at me! Feel how firm my arm is: You can see I am in perfect health, and yet I was, not long ago. advised by my doctor to go away for my health. My present condition is the result of the use of Paskola. It is a labor saving discovery—saves your stomach the labor of digesting food. Try it as I did, and grow fat and jolly." His partner, Mr. Hummel, said:

"I have seen a number of people try Paskala whose stomachs were so weak that they could digest nothing else, but who were able to assimilate this pre-digested food without the slightest difficulty. I have known an adult man wasted to a shadow by indigestion, who gained forty pounds in three monhts by its use.'

Wherever I went the reports were the same, and I was forced to the inevitable conclusion that a great discovery had certainly been made for building up the system, increasing the strenth and prolonging the life, without any drain or strain upon the digestive organs, which has been the great bane of our American life. Certainly the results of the research prove so.

Any one who desires further information upon this subject should send for a free pamphlet to the Pre-Digested Food Co., No. 30 Reade street, New York.

ORDERS VERSUS SCRUPLES.

A Soldier Punished For Refusing to Practice Target Shooting on Sunday.

Charles O. Cedarquist, private, Company A, Second infantry, stationed at Omaha, has been found guilty of disobeying his superior officer in refusing because of religious scruples to attend target practice on Sunday and scrienced to be confined at hard labor for a period of six months and to forfeit to the United States $10 per month of his pay for the same period. This is the first time such a case has arisen in the annals of the army, and the decision and finding of the court martial established a precedent for future cases of a similar nature. The case has attracted a great deal of attention in army and religious circles. The defense was practically limited to the contention that the order, in respect of which disobedience was charged, was an unlawful one in that-first, it enjoined a duty to be performed on Sunday in violation of orders and regulations limiting Sunday labor in the army to the measure of strict necessity, and, second, they the act required to be done would have been a violation of section 241 of the criminal code of Nebraska. The decision says:

"That a commanding officer has a discretion under exisiting orders to require target practice by his command on Sunday in case of necessity is undoubted. The evidence in this case fails to fix upon the commanding officer any abuse of discretion in the issue of the order complained of by the accused. The legality of that order and the obligation of the accused to obey it when duly transmitted to him cannot be questioned. It was not for him to judge of the necessity for the issuance of the order. The discretion pertained to his commanding officer as to whether one existed, and, whether erroneously or nor, it was the duty of the accused to obey. It is conceded that soldiers stationed at Belleview rifle range, Nebraska, who, as individuals, engage in hunting and shooting on Sunday, would be within the provisions of the sections referred to and liable to its penalties, but after careful consideration the reviewing authority is of the opinion that the state could not make, nor has it by this section or any other legislation to which his attention has been called, attempted to make the performance on Sunday of target practice or any other duty pertaining to the instruction and discipline of the army a criminal offense."

The occasion is deemed opportune for inviting the attention of the department to the fact that the obligations of military service will never permit a soldier to refuse obedience to an order because in his judgment it is unnecessary.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

RAW BEEF FOR WRINKLES.

A Girl Who Used It Lost Her Lover, but Didn't Give Back His Presents.

Joseph Slavinski, a tailor of Brownsville, Brocklyn, was to have been married to Rosa Marks, a neighbor, with whom he had kept company for nearly a year, in about a mouth. Rosa is known all over Brownsville for her good looks and had many admirers before she met Slavinski. One day last week Slavinski received an anonymous letter saying his affianced was in the habit of using raw beef to beautify her face, l and that she used paint to blacken, her eyelashes. Slavinski made an investigation and is alleged to have discovered that the girl had wrinkles in her face and for a long time had used raw beef to take them away. Slavinski wrote to Rosa breaking off the engagement and requesting her to return a diamond ring and a silk umbrella which he had given her. She refused, and Slavinski had her in the Second district civil court in Broadway, Williamsburg, on a summons to explain why she refused to return the articles. When Justice Petterson was told that raw beef had caused the engagement to be broken, he said to the girl:

"If you have used raw beef on your face, it's had good effect, for it undoubtedly has drawn out some hidden beau-

The justice added that as long as Slavinski had given the ring and the umbrella to Rosa they were her property. -New York Dispatch

They Have It In Atlanta. Atlanta is quick to catch on to all the latest curves. It was announced not long ago that the milkmen of London in order to alleviate all suspicion of adulterated milk drove their herd of milkors through the streets and extracted the lacteal fluid in front of the residences of their customers. An Atlanta milkman has started in the footsteps of the Londoners. Every morning soon after daybreak a milkman may be seen moving along Pulliam street with a herd of five fine milkers, stopping here and there in front of the residences long enough to milk one of the cows. The cows are well drilled and have learned the home of every customer. The sight is a unique one, and it serves to illustrate the statement that Atlanta is keeping pace.—Arlanta Constitution.

GEORGE H. THOMPSON, EDITOR O MACARDELL . . · CITY EDITOR J. F. ROBINSON. A. E. NICKINSON. - Business Manager

This morning's advices indicate that the tariff question is nearing a settlement. The sugar schedule is the great bone of contention, but the opinion prevails that a solution tolerably satisfactory to all sides will be found. It is to be hoped that Congress will agree on something and the long suspense be speedily ended.

A dangerous counterfeit has just been discovered by the treasury department at Washington. Because itso difficult of detection from the genuine note the counterfeit is described in minute detail by the Secret Service in order to put the public on its guard. The counterfeit is of the ten-dollar legal-tender note, series of 1880, check letter B, face plate No. 2,292, signed W. S. Rosecrans, Register; James W. Hyatt, Treasurer, and bearing a portrait of Webster and a large round seal.

Mr. Worthington C. Ford, Chief of the Government Bureau of Statistics, gives it as his view of the commercial situation that the period of depression has reached its lowest level and that there is a likelihood for a change for the better speedily. Mr. Ford reaches his conclusion from a comparison of the conditions prevailing after the panic of 1873 and the present state of affairs. The panie of 1873 was followed by a depression which reached its worst phase in 1578. He says: "Many of the conditions of 1878 are now with us. Under an average duty of 49 per cent., the revenue from customs in 1894 was less than $4,000,000 more than in 1878. Taking into view the larger population and the greater capacity for consumption, such a comparison is startling. I draw from this conclusion that in the twelve months of 1894 the greatest possible range of depression was experienced. What required six years from 1873 to 1878 has occupied only one year at this time. If this be true, the likelihood of a change, and a speedy one, for the better is the only admissible one. Lower we cannot go. "Another reason leads me to take a hopeful view of the situation. Stress has been laid upon the very exports over imports, upward of $237,000,000. This feature also occurred at the end of the depression of 1873. In 1878 the excess of exports over imports was $257,800,000, and in 1879 $364,600,00. Gold began to flow in, and the resumption of specie payments was assured. While the results of a single year cannot be taken as an infallible guide, the similarity of the situation in 1894 and în 1878 is remarkable. I feel confldent that a turn in the tide is at hand."

THE DEAD BOY AT BURNSIDE.

His Father's Statement—Bellef That the Shooting Was Aceldental and that the Pistol Was Thrown Before Death.

Coroner Decker went to Campbell Hall, yesterday afternoon, to continue the investigation of the death of young George Nightingale. Upon arriving at the establishment of Undertaker Stead, he found the boy's father, who had come to take the remains to his home at Cornwall.

The man's name is Richard Nightingale instead of Jesse, as was first reported, and he is a well and favorably known carpenter instead of a carpet weaver, as was also erroneously stated.

The family consists of the father and mother and six daughters, the deceased boy being the only son.

The poor man appeared deeply affected by the impressions which the boy's letter to his mother must leave upon the minds of the public. He denied that he had ever been cruei to the boy, but acknowledged that he had called him lazy a few days

Several years ago the lad fell from a ladder, sustaining injuries about the head, and since then he has 'act ed queerly at times.

The father identified the revolver as one belonging to him. The hammer was out of order and the weapon would not remain cocked, and Mr. Nightingale is of the opinion that the boy must have been trying to fix the hammer, when the hammer fell, exploding the cartridge.

He scouts the dea of murder or suicide and believes that the boy in his agony threw the weapon from him with all the force at his command. By actual measurement the distance between the places where the body and revolver were found is less than 200 feet, instead of 300, and it is now believed that the boy may have been able to throw the revolver that distance.

No additional light has been thrown on the mystery as yet. Several witnesses have been subpoensed by the coroner and a hearing will be had in a few days.

The boy left home early Tuesday morning. He had eighty cents in his pocket and it is supposed that he purchased the cartridges, which were found upon him, with a portion of this money.

Mr. Nightingale bears an excellent reputation as a hard working man and indulgent husband and father. He is a veteran of the "Fighting Fourteenth" Regiment of Brooklyn, and served with distinction in the War of the Rebellion.

The afflicted parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

FOR SWEET CHARITY

A Pleasing Entertainment for the Benefit of the Fresh Air Fund.

For some time past several young ladies on Beattie avenue have been arranging for an entertainment in aid of the Fresh Air Fund, Miss Catherine Smith being the leading spirit. Two dramas were rehearsed, one entitled "Love," and the other, "The Wearing of the Green." No advertising was done or public announcement made but the ladies quietly sold 200 tickets. The entertalament was given last night on the lawn of Mr. Henry Scharff at No. 21 Beattie avenue.

A stage was erected on the barn floor, the opening for the large doors being hung with curtains and carrying out the stage effect which was made still more natural by the elegant furniture, rugs and portieres loaned for the occasion.

The rain interfered somewhat with the affair but about 150 persons were present and greatly enjoyed the plays.

Those who participated in the performance were Miss Fannie Gearcy and Mr. John Scharff, of New York, and Misses Nellie Desmond, Anna Kimber, Nellie Burhans and Alma Scharff, and Messrs. Andrew Hutchinson, Harry Sudderly, Fred Massey and Chas. Lyon, of Middletown. Berg's orchestra furnished the music end Rockafellow Bros. the PROCEEDINGS OF LAST NIGHT'S REGULAR MEETING.

What the Aldermen Know About Par-Hamentary Law-Recognized Author_ liles Not in it-To Pave Orehard Street -Proceedings to Open the New Street Abandoned-Bil's Audited and Other Business Transacted.

A regular meeting of the Common Council was held last evening. Present President Dorrance and Aldermen Bowers, Funnell, Greene, Luddingen, Mance and Sinsabaugh.

WANTED THE MINUTES CORRECTED.

After the reading of the minutes Mr. Freene asked that the record of the two motions at the last meeting, which were a tie and were not declared lost, should be corrected to conform to parliamentary rules. He offered in support of his request Cushing's Manual, which ought to have settled the question.

CUSHING'S MANUAL NOT AUTHORITY,

Mr. Reed objected on the ground that Cushing's Manual was not authority for this council, but that Roberts' Manual was the rule governing the council.

Mr. Greene offered to procure a copy of Roberts' Manual if given 15 minutes to do so.

There was some further discussion but no great desire to consult Roberts' Manual. The President and Mr. Reed took the ground "that it -Scranton's fire parade occurs did'nt make any difference," Mr. Greene contended that the rules gov erning the council should be followed. ROBERTS' MANUAL PRODUCED,

A gentleman who had heard the discussion produced a copy of Rob--Suits have been brought against erts' parliamentary rules and Mr. ticle 6: "When there is a tie vote the motion fails."

Mr. Reed moved that the minutes be approved as read.

Mr. Green moved an amendment that the minutes be corrected and Mr. Sinsabaugh seconded it.

J. J. Chambers, presep. .... Mr. Greene said it was not, in spite of the fact that the minutes showed it had not been decided as lost. He had read the recognized authority of the Council, but the majority had ignored that authority.

Mr. Mance and Mr. Reed said the matter went over from the last meeting by common consent, but Mr. Greene knew he was right and contended that there should be some rule for the guidance of the Council and that it should be followed. He said he was willing at any time to stand defeat, but he wanted to be honestly beaten.

EULES OF NO USE.

The President and Mesers, Mance and Read evidently cared nothing for rules. They wanted the matter to go their way and with the assistance of Messrs. Funnell and Bowler were able to carry their point.

THE OPENING OF THE NEW STRUET ABAN-DONED.

Mr. Reed moved to reconsider the resolution to discontinue the proceedings for opening the new street from East Main street to Sprague avenue, and to rescind the resolution ordering the opening of the street.

In his haste to carry out the instructions he had received, Mr. Reed forgot that he, as one who had voted in the affirmative, had no right to make such a motion, but was quickly reminded of it by Mr. Greene, who aroze to a point of order.

Reluctantly the majority conceded that Mr. Greene was right and Mr. Funnell, who voted against the resolution at a former meeting, but had seen new light in the interim, made the motion.

The original resolution was then read by the Clerk and a ballot taken, with the following result.

Ayes-Dorrance, Funnell, Reed, Bowler, Mance, Sinsabaugh. Nays-Greene, Luddington.

TO INVESTIGATE CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES. Mr. Luddington moved that a committee of three be appointed to investigate Alfred Allee's claim. Motion carried, and Messrs. Luddington, Mance and Reed were appointed such committee.

Messrs. Bowler, Sinsabaugh and Funnell were appointed a committee to investigate Mrs. Little's claim.

THE SENATURE SCHVANT. She Lost Her Place That the Digmty of Her Master Might Be Upheld.

Extraces in an told eleat book on life in Washington, "The Autobiography of a Senatori''

On that bright spring morning I strolled into my library and heard the telegraph instrument ticking away noisily in the corner. Mechanically I walked over to the table and picked up the tape. With startled gaze I read, "Sugar, 8234." The slip of paper dropped from my nerveless grasp. I had bought my sugar at 6012. If I sold now, I would realize a great sum. Should I do it? No! A thousand times no! I was a senator, a member of the most honorable and most dignified deliberative body in the world. I was assisting in the making of a tariff on the stuff which was climbing so rapidly on Wall street. It could not be.

For half an hour I sat and smoked a cigar. The maddening click of the telegraph still rang in my ears. I walked again to the table. The figures on the tape danced before my eyes. "Sugar, 85." A fortune was slipping from my grasp. I sat down and wrote this telegram to my brokers, "Sell my sugar." Then a revulsion of feeling came over me. I could not do it. I felt that I was an honorable man. I left the telegram where I had written it and fled to the garden.

While walking in the garden I saw Mary, the second girl. She bade me good morning. I said to her: "Mary, if by any chance you should go into the library-of course I do not expect that you will go there-but if by any chance you do and see a telegram on my desk addressed to my brokers be sure to remember that the nearest telegraph office is on the next block." The girl courtesied and went into the house. I think she understood that I meant her to stay out of the library.

Two hours I spent in that garden thinking out a scheme I have for ameliorating the condition of the poor by providing open air performances under national guidance of Ibsen's dramas. Then I went back to the library. A telegram addressed to me was on my desk. I nervously tore it open. It read: Order executed. Sugar sold at 86. You make $247,000." My heart rose in my throat. The bit of yellow paper dropped from my fingers and fell fluttering to the floor. Here was I, a United States senator, speculating in stocks and taking advantage of information which my official position secured for me. That miserable servant had sent my telegram. Horror!

That afternoon I wrote to my brokers telling them to deposit the $247,000 to my credit. Then I discharged the second girl. The dignity of my great office must be upheld.—Buffalo Express.

Bought His Gift In a Pawnshop.

A funny thing which is just leaking out happened at the recent Sherman wedding in Boston. A man who was a prominent guest, in looking over the presents at the house, discovered a valuable old clock, an antique, that he had bought abroad for a big sum and that had been stolen from his house a year or more before in some mysterious way. He hunted up the donor and found he had bought it from a pawnbroker that had called his attention to it as a rare article. The man wanted to give Miss Sherman something rare and so purchased it. It was not, however, until owner No. 1 insisted upon the right of first proprietorship that owner No. 2 was willing to explain. It was rather a big joke on him to have sought a pawnbroker's shop for his wedling present, and the first man thought it too good a story to keep, —Town Topics, Discovered a Long Sought For Beetle.

Professor A. D. Hopkins of the agricultural experiment station at Morgantown has just discovered a beetle for which naturalists have been looking for many years in vain. It is the heetle from the eggs of which come the worms which have rained so much chestnut timber in this section of the country. The worm has long been known, but as long as the beetle which lays the eggs was talknown it was impossible to destroy it. Professor Hopkins has received numbers of the larvæ and has carefully noted every phase connected with their acyclopment, into the pupe and then the beetles. The beetle is one that has never been known before and belongs to a species of which but three families have ever before been discov-.. Torth. St., Middletown and - Martin-burg (W. Va.) Dispatch.

THE ELEMENTS PROTEST. A Warning to the Chaps Who Think the Fish Story Teller Is Safe. Emmet Washburn and Irving Smith were on their way to Wilbur's mill, near Pinesville, in upper Delaware valley, the other day. Washburn was driving a team of valuable young horses. The sun was shining brightly over their heads, but the sky to the northward was black with thunderclouds. The last thing Washburn remembered while they were driving along was that he was listening to a fish story Smith was telling him, when suddely there came a frightful crash over their heads and a flash of intense light.

The next thing Washburn remembers is his finding himself lying in the bottom of his wagon, with Smith lying near. After awhile he was able to ri-e and look about him. Both of his horses lay dead in the road. Smith revived soon afterward. The sun was still shining brightly, and the thunderclouds in the north had broken away. A thunderbolt from a clear sky had evidently barst upon them. Each horse had a hole in his neck. Smith was wearing a pair of blue overalls, with a patch in each knee. The patches were gone, having been cut out around the edges as nearly as if the separation was done with a pair of shears. The rim of Washburn's straw hat had been cut entirely away in the same manner.

Neither of the men was injured in the slightest degree, but each felt a strange numbness in his lody and limbs for two hours. They buried the horses at the roadside.

A peculiarity of this freak of freaky lightning is that while Smith can remember distinctly the story he was telling Washburn up to the point when it was interrupted by the thunderbolt he cannot remember the closing part of it, although he says the incidents of it happened to him this season, and he had told the story several times. The team was valued at $500,-Hoverdale (Pa.) Dispatch.

THOSE ROGUISH GIRLS.

In Paterson They Worried a Car Conductor Until He Resigned His Job.

One of the shortest of New Jersey politicians is anthority for the statement that Paterson girls have laughed him out of a job. He is an unusually handsome bachelor of 32 New Jersey winters and is known among his friends as one of the most bashful men in the state. After the legislature adjourned his political friends got him appointed conductor of a Paterson trolley car. All would have gone well if the silk mill girls hadn't get talking about him among themselves. Their attention was attracted by seeing the good looking little conductor jump up to ring the bell or record a fare. This, though only moderately funny at first, grew in humor as each girl became conscious that other girls were watching him as they rode on his car from day to-day. They called him "Shorty" among themselves, and soon it came about that if his cur containded any silk mill girls they all smiled in unison whenever a fare was rung up.

At length the bashful bachelor confided his trials to a friend. He was advised to hold on to his conductorship through the hard times. Accordingly he smothered his feelings for a time. One day the traveler got off the trolley wire, and he couldn't reach the rope that hangs from the arm. The car was standing still, and it was full of girls who had nothing to do but watch the little conductor. Every time he jumped and missed the rope the girls laugh-

This was too much. When the month ended, he notified the railroad company that he was going to leave to take a job at his former trade. - Paterson Standard.

A JOKE ON THE P. G.

He'd Give a Week's Salary to Know Who Is Responsible For a Certain Story.

The postmaster general is irate. He wants to know who wrote it. About one week ago a correspondent for a western paper sent out a story to the effect that the postoffice department had decided to furnish a proof of each of the postage stamps i-sued by the department upon application for same. This item touched a responsive chord in the breasts of the great American public and was widely copied. The applications have begun to come in. Several hundred have come in on each mail for the past five days, and the number is increasing.

There is a deluge of this kind of mail matter, and to save the department from being swamped Postmuster General Bissell has been compelled to order printed a circular setting forth that the department is not distributing proofs of stamps and has also been compelled to transfer some of the clerical force of the department from legitimate work to the work of sending these circulars to the stamp applicants. The affair is regarded as a practical joke on the department, but General Bissell didn't regard it in that way when he said to The Starman, "I'd give a week's salary to know who wrote it."-Washington Star.

To Europe For $10. To Europe for $10, including board and lodging, is the present rate of the competing steamship lines. Persons who make frequent trips first class cannot view the war in steerage rates without some feelings of envy. The remarkable price of $10 for a trip of from seven to nine days, with good sanitary quarters, plenty of wholesome food and drink, and in a record breaking steamer at that, is one reason for the very large emigration during the past two months. Though the transatlantic companies are fighting to the death for the steerage traffic, they display an altogether wonderful degree of indifference to first class passengers. Competition in this direction is apparently barred by a cast iron mutual agreement.—New York Sun.

SHOTS HERE AND THERE AN "ARGUS" MAN OFF DUTY AIMS

A Quarrel Over the Wheather-Tylog the Fruit to the Trees to Keep it

from Falling Off. Among the unfortunate effects of the prolonged heated term is an acerbity of human temper not usually noticeable in cooler weather. Two gentlemen of my acquaintance have wrecked their friendship through its means. They might yet be the best of friends, but at the breakfast table a few mornings ago, they disagreed as to the tolerableness of the weather, one asserting that it was absolutely unendurable and the other protesting that there was nothing in it to grumble at. Their talk quickly turned to pointed sarcasm aimed at one another, until the first gentleman remarked that there was no use in "arguing with a fool," and turning his back as nearly on him as he could eat the rest of his breakfast in silence. Now they don't speak to each other. When they pass, and frequent meetings are of course unavoidable, so long as they both live in the same house and eat at the same table, they glare at one another like wild beasts and as far as looks can say it their chief ambition is to do the other some awful injury. When next morning after this unfortunate episode, a third party asked one of them what he thought of the weather, he snapped out "I don't know anything about the weather." Now any remark by anybody about heat or cold, rain or sunshine exasperates him and if persisted in will draw out a cutting remark that shows how raw he is on the subject.

The household all hope that when the heated term is over, peace and harmony may be restored, but so long as the thermometer ranges in the vicinity of the nineties it is useless to attempt reconciliation,

The family had all been born in New York and had lived in the city all their lives until this spring, when they moved to a little place near Middletown. A neighbor became friendly and paid them frequent visits. One day recently he saw the ladies of the household making an enormous number of little cloth bags. "What are you making those things for" he asked, "Why to hold the Iruit on the trees," they said. "We noticed the peaches and plums were beginning to fall off before they were ripe and we thought we would hold them with these bags until they became fully ripened." The neighbor thought he would like to see the experiment wrought out, and so said nothing. The next time he came the little orchard looked as though it had a crop of the newest and oddest kind of fruit. All through the branches were apparently green and yellow, red and indigo, mottled, striped and figured fruits of shapes and sizes.

the trees was due to the bags which the family had with such great industry made, and with most painstaking and laborious care fastened on the trees, each one enclosing a fruit and holding it securely fast to the limb on which it is growing.

The family feel now that they can defy cyclones, wind storms, birds or insects, and the probabilities are that they will have a splendid crop of fruit. If they don't it certainly won't be their fault.

The Whole System a Fraud,

In Newburgh, Friday, a trolley lineman received a shock and fell from a traveling tower to the ground, death resulting almost instantly from a broken neck. There was no reasonable ground to suspect that death had been occasioned "by the act of another by criminal means," or that suicide had been committed, but an inquest was promptly held and an utterly worthless verdict rendered, for which the taxpayers must pay. No wonder that public sentiment strongly favors the abolition of the office of coroner. Of all the bills which the county has to pay none represents so little value as those of the coroners. The whole system is a fraud, semi-legalized perhaps, but a fraud none the less and a very expensive one.-Goshen Independent.

FELL FROM A BALLOON.

Mile, La Hount, the Aeronaut, Badly Injured at Haverhill, Mass., Yesterday.

Mile. Nellie Lamount, the daring young woman who, with her husband, Charles Walcott, gave a successful balloon ascension and parachute jump in this city July 7th, met lake region, with a temperature of with a serious accident at Haverhill, Mass., yesterday.

She made an ascension in a hot air balloon which, when inflated, was 96 feet from the top to the trapeze bar. When at the height of 800 feet there was an explosion. A large hole had been made in the side of the balloon, from which the air began to escape. The balloon began to descend rapidly, and when about fifty feet from the ground, Mlle. Lamount let go her hold and shot down head foremost. She struck on her side. Her thigh was broken and she was badly cut about the face and head. The physicians think that she will recover.

Mr. Walcott did not make an ascension yesterday, he having made a successful ascension and parachute jump the day before.

TERRIBLE WEIGHT.

THAT BEARING DOWN FEELING. [SPECIAL TO OUR LADY BEADERS ]

The recovery of Lucretia Osborne Putnam of Forristdale, Mass., was really wonderful. She had been sick for years. She was utterly seemed beyond a hope of cure. Her spine, heart, liver, and brain were all seriously affected. The weight of her body upon her feet would cause dizziness, faintness, and terrible pains in her back, and it was sometimes several hours before she could dress.

This woman's trouble was in her womb, effecting her whole constitution. She was crushed with that indescribable feeling of bearing down, and suffered agonies that would appal a man. She found new life in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She says: "I am like one raised from the dead. I was sick so long I thought I never could get well.

"The suffocating, gasping attacks and awful bearing down feeling left me, my appetite returned, and my friends wondered at my improved looks. I believe Mrs. Pinkham's remedies are a sure cure for the misery of our sex.'
